A guide to choosing flowers & floral tributes

Flowers are a simple and beautiful way to create a personal tribute to a loved one. This brochure is a useful guide showing example flowers and floral tributes available, whether it be a simple sympathy bouquet, wreath, spray or coffin display. There are also some ideas for special floral tributes you may wish to consider.

Creating a personal tribute for your loved one

When someone has died, giving flowers helps many people express their feelings and emotions. People often choose flowers that were a favourite of the person who has died, making the funeral more personal.

There are many types of floral arrangements available and this brochure is a guide to help you decide what you would like.

We can help and advise you, and discuss the flowers and colours you would like. You can then leave the rest to us.

After the funeral, if you instruct us to, we can collect the cards from the wreaths and bouquets, handing them to you later as a keepsake.

Please note, the following flowers and floral tributes are a guide only. Individual flowers and colours may vary depending on seasonal availability. Please ask your funeral director for further information on prices, sizes and any other individual requirements.

In some circumstances local florists may need to substitute flowers for a suitable seasonal alternative if the exact flower requested is unavailable, and we will make every effort to ensure that the item is substituted for something similar in style, colour and quality.
